

SUPPORTS HIS PARTY FOR HONOR'S SAKE

C. WHITNEY MAKES A FORMAL BOLT.

Statement Issued at New York Leaves No Doubt of His Intentions—Kansas Silver Men Support Bryan—News of Politics Throughout the Country.

New York, July 17.—William C. Whitney has bolted the Chicago ticket. He will sail for Europe tomorrow if the condition of his friend and neighbor, Cornelius Vanderbilt, will permit, and will take no part in the campaign. Having learned that misleading reports were being circulated as to his attitude, Mr. Whitney gave out this statement for publication: "Will you be kind enough to correct the statement that I desire the endorsement by the state organization of the Chicago ticket. There are no possible conditions of circumstances that would induce me to vote for it or assist it." The sound money committee of the reform club repudiated the Chicago platform, and in this indirect way put the club on record: "Resolved, That the executive committee of the club be authorized to arrange for a speaking campaign pending the national election, in opposition to interference by legislation with our standard of currency values."

Ex-Governor Roswell P. Flower said that he had buried his politics in his garden in Watertown, and hereafter is to be only a plain business man. He intimated plainly that he would take no part toward the election of Bryan and Sewall.

"THE UNION SILVER PARTY."

Name Adopted by the Free-Silver Convention at Lansing, Mich.

Lansing, Mich., July 17.—The independent free-silver convention held here Thursday was attended by 225 delegates, all but three of the twelve congressional districts of the state being represented. The resolutions simply call for the free coinage of silver, and the thirty-four delegates elected to the St. Louis convention were instructed "to vote as a unit to the end that all the silver forces of the United States may be united in the great battle for the emancipation of the people." There was no doubt, however, as to the attitude of the convention, as Bryan was given rousing cheers.

The convention elected a state central committee, and authorized it to appoint in each district a congressional committee, to be composed of a free-silver republican, a free-silver democrat, a nationalist and a populist, pledged to work for the union of all the parties on a single ticket in nation, state and county and legislative and congressional districts. The committee was authorized also to call a state convention at the same time and place of holding the state conventions of the democratic, national and populist parties, for the purpose of uniting on a state and electoral ticket if possible.

Debs Opposes Indorsement.

Terre Haute, Ind., July 17.—Eugene V. Debs, in an interview, said: "It is not true that I have expressed any intention of supporting Mr. Bryan, although personally I have a very high regard for that gentleman. I concede him to be a man of extraordinary ability and unquestioned honesty. But I cannot support him unless by act of the convention of the people's party he becomes the nominee of that party. So far as I am concerned I am opposed to the people's party endorsing Mr. Bryan or the nominee of any other party. The silver issue I regard as of minor importance in comparison with some others for which the people's party stands. Free silver will not remedy the ills of which the people, and especially the workmen, complain. I hope to see the people's party convention declare in favor of a constitutional convention."

Bryan Victorious in Kansas.

Topeka, Kas., July 17.—The state silver convention met here Thursday. Among those present at least three-fourths had heretofore been prominently identified with the Republican party. John Breidenthal, the Populist leader, declared that 900 out of every 1,000 Populists in Kansas are in favor of uniting all the silver forces in support of Bryan. After the various committees had reported sixty delegates were elected to the St. Louis convention of bimetalists. The delegation was instructed to vote as a unit in favor of endorsing William J. Bryan for president. An out and out silver platform was adopted and an organized effort will be made to unite all the friends of silver.

Arkansas Delegates Chosen.

Little Rock, Ark., July 17.—The populist state convention got down to business at 9:30 o'clock Thursday morning. District delegates to the national convention were selected. A voluminous platform was adopted, denouncing both the republican and democratic parties; favoring the free and unlimited coinage of silver, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation; demanding the abolition of national banks.

Missouri Democrats May Bolt.

St. Louis, Mo., July 17.—The sound money democracy of Missouri proposes to hold a state convention in St. Louis at an early date and select presidential electors and delegates to a national convention. A declaration of principles was adopted yesterday which will be promulgated within a few days. It repudiates the Chicago platform on account of its denunciation of the supreme court of the United States and of the policy of President Cleveland in sending federal troops for the enforcement of the interstate commerce law, in 1894, at Chicago; its equivocal and evasive civil service plank, and, most of all, on account of its financial plank.

Lind for Governor of Minnesota.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 17.—The silver convention organized Thursday morning in Harmonia Hall, and then moved across the river to the great exposition hall, where they heard reports of committees, and adopted resolutions commending Bryan as candidate for president and presenting John Lind to the people of Minnesota as a candidate for governor. Lind is a well known free silver advocate and is popular. The convention was attended by about 500 delegates from all over the state, and the gathering is a representative one. The silver men are so encouraged that they will at once begin a vigorous campaign to land Minnesota in the Bryan column.

Morgan Is Again a Democrat.

Birmingham, Ala., July 17.—In a speech at Coal City Philander Morgan, brother of United States Senator Morgan, and regarded as the ablest intellectual of all the populist leaders in Alabama, announced his return to the democratic party. He gave his hearty indorsement to the Bryan ticket and national democratic platform. Morgan stood high in populist councils, and was offered the gubernatorial nomination on the fusion ticket, but declined it.

PLANS ARE COMPLETE.

Republican National Committee Is Ready for the Campaign.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 17.—The most important action of the executive committee of the republican national committee at its meeting Thursday was the decision that the financial question shall be made a prominent issue of the campaign. It was decided to place the Chicago headquarters in charge of a committee consisting of Henry C. Payne of Wisconsin, Charles Dawes of Illinois, T. N. Jamelson of Illinois, W. T. Durbin of Indiana, and Cyrus Leland of Kansas. The New York headquarters, it was arranged, should be in charge of Garret A. Hobart of New Jersey, Secretary W. M. Osborne of Massachusetts, N. B. Scott of West Virginia, Powell Clayton of Arkansas and Joseph E. Manley of Maine.

According to Chairman Hanna, neither headquarters will be the principal one. Both will be under his supervision, and he will travel from one to the other in a special car and direct the movements of his lieutenants.

Among the speakers who will be secured for the campaign is Roswell P. Horr, who debated in Chicago with Harvey. The reports concerning the intention of Benjamin Harrison to take the stump for McKinley are also well founded.

Before the adjournment of the executive committee the following were agreed upon as members of the advisory committee: General Russell A. Alger, Michigan; S. W. Allerton, Illinois; H. Clay Evans, Tennessee; Senator Shoup, Idaho; ex-Governor Merriam, Missouri; ex-Governor Long, Florida; Thomas Dolan, Pennsylvania; William H. Plunkett, Massachusetts.

After the meeting Mr. Hanna stated that no action had yet been taken relative to the appointment of a ninth member of the executive committee.

It is reported that the committee, while at Canton, will make every possible effort to induce Mr. McKinley to make a trip through the west, or, at least, deliver some speeches in that section of the country. Some of the western committeemen are strongly in favor of having the campaign opened in Omaha or Lincoln, Neb.

Senator Hill Is Still a Democrat.

Normandie-by-the-Sea, N. J., July 17.—Senator Hill put in a busy time here Thursday. All day long he was in conference with leaders of the democratic party. Assistant Secretary of the Treasury William E. Curtis, reached Normandie in the afternoon. The general impression here is that Mr. Curtis came to see Senator Hill at the instance of Mr. Cleveland. Senator Hill refuses to divulge what passed between them in their short interview. It is intimated, however, that Senator Hill declared that he would not espouse a third ticket. It is known positively that the senator will wait until the New York state democratic convention meets in September before declaring his position. In a word he will not embarrass his future presidential prospects by any hasty action. He even declined to comment on ex-Secretary Whitney's declaration in which he repudiates the Chicago platform.

Flint Glass Workers Adjourn.

Alton, Ill., July 17.—The national convention of American Flint Glass Workers adjourned Thursday to meet in Pittsburgh, Pa., in July, 1897. The last day was devoted to grievances within the different departments, and also to changes in amendment sheet. The officers elected are: President-treasurer, William J. Smith, Pittsburgh, Pa.; vice president, F. P. Williams, Baltimore; secretary John Kunzler, Pittsburgh; assistant, William Clare, Pittsburgh.

BAPTISTS AT WORK IN THE CREAM CITY

YOUNG PEOPLE'S UNION AT MILWAUKEE.

Flourishing Condition of the Organization—Secretary Reports an Aggregate Membership in Excess of One Hundred Thousand—Record of the Convention's Proceedings.

Milwaukee, July 17.—The sixth international convention of the Baptists' Young People's Union of America—the Christian Endeavor of that great and powerful denomination opened here Thursday. The event has brought here probably the largest number of distinguished Baptist divines and representative members of the denomination, male and female, that has ever been brought together in any one city.

Bright and early the delegates and visitors were astir, for four "surrender" meetings, with prayers for the presence of the Spirit, had been scheduled for 6:30. The services lasted until 8 o'clock, when breakfasting was in order, the participants having gone to their respective meetings on empty stomachs.

Promptly at 10 o'clock the international convention was called to order in the great Exposition Building, next to the Coliseum in Chicago the largest convention auditorium in America. It has a capacity of 15,000 and was filled to the doors half an hour before President John H. Chapman of Chicago rapped for order. This was speedily secured and devotional exercises, consisting of the reading of a chapter from the scriptures, prayer and singing, led by a chorus of 700 voices, were conducted by Rev. E. W. White of the Tabernacle Church. The services concluded, A. W. Drake, president of the Milwaukee union, delivered the address of welcome in behalf of the local organizations and addresses were also made in behalf of the municipality. A response for the board of managers of the international union and the delegates came from Rev. E. M. Poteat of New Haven, Conn.

The preliminaries over, General Secretary Dr. Frank L. Wilkins of Chicago presented the annual report of the board of managers. In it he referred to the fact that the total membership of the organization exceeded 100,000, one and all young people enthusiastic in the work of the church. He pointed out that the Baptists allowed great liberty. Every church was left to its own discretion as to how its young people should be organized. There were over 3,500 Christian Endeavor societies in the denomination; but the fact that the Baptists were largely enlisted in the interdenominational fellowship of Christian Endeavor did not preclude their having a young people's denominational society of their own, and the fact was that a denomination that numbered 4,000,000 adherents in America had, perhaps, more reason than other denominations for maintaining such an organization. He went back to the first organization of the union in Chicago in 1891, when 3,000 delegates were present, and commented upon the phenomenal growth of the society.

The afternoon's session was opened by a praise service led by L. W. Budd of Providence, R. I. This was followed by a symposium of one hour upon "The Society as a Training School for the Church." Then the delegates scattered to the workers' conferences.

At the Y. M. C. A. hall there was a conference of officers of state and provincial unions; the principal address, delivered by Rev. Howard W. Smith of Baltimore, being devoted to the question, "Baptist Federation the Prophecy of the New Denominational Future." There was also an open parliament on state and provincial work, conducted by Rev. F. S. Abernathy of Minneapolis.

The amphitheater of the convention hall was filled before 8 o'clock, and the galleries were overflowing when the convention was called to order for the first night session. Fully 12,000 were in the hall when Gov. Upham appeared on the platform and was greeted with great applause. He welcomed the delegates in behalf of the state. The Rev. H. F. Colby of Canton, Ohio, spoke on the strength of the union, and urged the young workers to know their strength and use it to spread the gospel.

The Rev. E. E. Cheevers of Brooklyn responded in behalf of the next convention city and urged the young Baptists to come there by the thousands.

President John H. Chapman of Chicago, the head of the union, then delivered his annual address.

The sectional fight between the north and south, growing out of the formation of a branch to the order in the southern states, is not to be allowed to come up. It has been arranged by expunging a part of the report and the board of managers has full control of the matter, which will be settled later on. The officers of the four great sections are made members of the board ex-officio. Nothing will be heard of the question in the convention, as business of that sort is not allowed to be discussed in public.

The contest over the location for the convention in 1898 took place at night before the board of managers. The 1897 convention will be held in Brooklyn, and it is the rule of the union to select the convention ground two years in advance.

GOOD MAN SHOT AT ON A DELAVAN ROAD

CHURCH GOER INTERFERES WITH FOOT-PADS.

Fred Christianson, on His Way Home From Service Is Told to Get Out of the Way and Hears Two Bullets Sing—Daniel Webster Slugged and Found Unconscious.

Delavan, July 17.—Fred Christianson was half a mile from town, going home from church service, when some one yelled: "Get out of the way," and two pistol shots were fired. Christianson hurried along and found a man lying across the road apparently dead. Anticipating the possibility of robbers and murderers close by, he drew his revolver and then called lustily for help, which soon came. The helpless stranger was found to be alive and was taken to Carl Burns' house where his wounds were washed and he was restored to consciousness. He was recognized as Daniel Webster, a farm hand, living near the state line. As soon as he could talk he said that he was walking along the road, when two men stepped out from under the trees and struck him with what appeared to be a slung shot or "billy." He says they appeared to be dressed in bicycle suits. They must have gone south, or cross lots, as Mr. Christianson saw nothing more of them than as above stated. What their object was is a mystery unless they were mistaken in their map.

EX-GOV. RUSSELL DEAD.

Distinguished Son of Massachusetts Expires Suddenly of Heart Disease.

Boston, Mass., July 17.—Ex-Governor William E. Russell of Massachusetts died suddenly at the camp of B. F. Dutton of this city at St. Adelaide, Pabos, Quebec, Thursday morning. Governor Russell, accompanied by his brother, Colonel Harry E. Russell, and Colonel Francis Peabody, Jr., arrived there only Wednesday in search of rest. He was greatly fatigued from the mental and physical strain of the EX-GOV. WILLIAM E. RUSSELL.

Chicago convention, and his friends urged upon him the necessity of a rest in the backwoods, and he accepted the invitation of Mr. Dutton to go to his beautiful Canadian camp.

On reaching St. Adelaide the ex-governor appeared in good health and spirits, and the evening was spent in a social way and in preparation for a fishing trip. He and his companions retired early. Colonel Russell was the first to arise, and when he called his brother he received no answer. He then attempted to arouse him by shaking him, whereupon he discovered that life had flown.

The position of the body and the expression on the dead man's face showed that his death was painless. An autopsy was held and showed that death was due to heart disease. Colonels Russell and Peabody left for Boston with the body this morning, and the funeral will probably be held at Cambridge, his native city, on Sunday.

Governor Russell's last public appearance was at the Chicago convention, where he made a memorable speech.

William Eustice Russell was born in Cambridge on Jan. 6, 1857, within the shadow of the university from which he was graduated in 1877. He received his early training in the public schools of Cambridge, in which he prepared for Harvard college, entering that institution in 1873. After his graduation he was admitted to the Suffolk bar in the April term of 1880. In 1886 Mr. Russell was elected mayor of Cambridge by a large majority. He held the reins of government in the mayor's chair for three terms.

Mr. Russell was married to Miss Margaret Swan, daughter of the late Rev. Joshua Swan, formerly of Cambridge, on June 3, 1885. They had three children—two sons and one daughter.

In 1888 he was nominated for governor, and, while he was defeated by Gov. Ames, he polled nearly 1,000 votes more than were cast for Mr. Cleveland for president. He was nominated again in 1889 and was elected over Mr. Brackett by a plurality of 8,000.

In 1891 he was successful over Charles H. Allen, of Lowell, by a plurality of 7,500. In 1892, the presidential year, he defeated William H. Hall by a plurality of 2,500 votes, while Benjamin Harrison carried the state by a plurality of 30,000. He retired from office at the end of his third term.

FIFTEEN MEN ARE DROWNED.

Fatal Mistake on a Ferry Boat at Cleveland, O.—The Bodies Recovered.

Cleveland, O., July 17.—A terrible accident took place Thursday night in the old river bed, near Whisky island. A gang of ore-handlers were unloading the schooner Transfer, and finished their day's work about 7 o'clock. A small flat-bottomed ferry was in waiting to take them across the river. It was being handled by a boy 15 years of age, named Bernard Patton. The lad had broken his oar and was trying to navigate the ferry with a pair of sculls. The boat was crowded with about forty men. In the middle of the stream those on board saw coming the tug Cushing, with a big vessel in tow. The coming tug began to make big waves, and a collision seemed imminent.

The laborers became frightened and called to the boy to go back. Those in front of the boat took it for instructions for them to step back in the boat and obeyed. The result was that the boat capsized, water rushed in and all hands were overturned into the river. The shouting and hallooing was fearful. Nothing could be done, as the thing happened so quickly and it was so late in the evening that almost every one had gone home for the day. Those of the party who could reached shore, and most of them started toward home to change clothes. How many of them escaped drowning cannot well be determined at this time, but so far fifteen bodies have been recovered by the life-saving crew. The boy, Bernard Patton, managed to swim ashore, and tells the story of how it happened. So does William Gerlach, whose father was among those who were fortunate enough to reach the shore by swimming. He searched among the corpses till he found his father's body.

The identified dead are:

WILLIAM SAUNDERS, 45 years, married, leaves one child.
AUGUST KASTEN, Gauge street, married, several children.
MICHAEL LYNCH, 96 Hanover street, married, no children.
FRITZ BARTEL, 436 Rim street, 21 years old, single.
CHRIS GERLACH, 46 Selden avenue, 45, wife and two children.
M. PROPP, married, aged 40 years.
CARL BOHRMEISTER, 24 Selden avenue, married only three or four months ago, aged about 30 years.
JULIUS ERKE, 8 List court, married.

CHRIST GERHREN, married, leaves several children.

CHARLES KRAUS, widower, leaves several children.

WILLIAM BUELOW, pressman. Buelow went down to the river to see the excitement, fell off the Detroit boat landing and was drowned. He was married, and was well known in labor circles.

The strange thing about the whole affair is that there was no collision, and probably would not have been any, even had the ferryboat maintained its course. Ambulances went to the river front and secured the bodies. There are supposed to be others in the water.

GATHER TO MEET BRYAN.

His Progress to Lincoln, Neb., Marked by Popular Demonstrations.

St. Louis, Mo., July 17.—It was scarcely sunrise Thursday when Hon. William J. Bryan, the democratic presidential nominee, accompanied by his wife and three children, left Salem, Ill., for Lincoln, Neb., Mr. Bryan's present home.

There were less than a score of people at the depot to bid the distinguished party good-by. At each of the stations where the train stopped Mr. Bryan got off and shook hands with the citizens, who had come to catch a glimpse of the candidate. The number of people at the stations varied from half a dozen to three-score, at several places flags were brought out and waved in his honor.

At East St. Louis, where the train stopped there about 8 o'clock, there were about 200 railway employees on the platform, who shouted and scrambled to get near him. Each one seemed determined to shake the hand of the nominee. There were cries for a speech. In response Mr. Bryan made a short talk. He said: "Prince Bismarck, in a speech made to the farmers a little over a year ago, said that the farmers must stand together and protect themselves from the drones of society which produce nothing but laws. The producers of the country are just as much entitled to the fruits of industry and to consideration as those who consume the things produced."

At Jefferson City and Sedalia, Mr. Bryan also made short speeches. At Kansas City he spoke to a crowd of 10,000 people. Mr. Bryan and party left at 10:30 this morning for Lincoln.

Talks to His Old Comrades.

Canton, O., July 17.—Five hundred veteran comrades of the war called on Maj. McKinley Thursday afternoon. They came from Cleveland on a special train, and they called to congratulate him as "comrades," and not as republicans or democrats, as their spokesman said. Addresses were made by Commander Hugh Bunkley, Senator W. T. Clark, the Rev. George Peffer, E. L. Patterson, C. C. Dewstoe, Capt. Bohm and Maj. W. L. Gleason, to which Maj. McKinley responded.

President Cleveland Mourns.

COAL MINE STRUCK IN GREEN COUNTY

FIVE FOOT VEIN FOUND NEAR JUDA.

Water That Flows Through it Is Full of Oil and the Price of Land in the Neighborhood Has Jumped From $35 to $100 An Acre Off-Hand.

Juda, July 17.—While Christian Zausse, a farmer residing a mile from this place in Green County, was digging a well he struck a vein of coal about one hundred feet from the surface. The vein is apparently five feet thick, and the water which comes from it is quite oily. Mr. Zausse bought the farm for thirty-five dollars an acre, and has been offered $100 an acre since the coal was discovered.

Vanderbilt's Condition Serious.

New York, July 17.—Prospects of Cornelius Vanderbilt's recovery from the paralytic stroke which he sustained Tuesday were not as good last night as they seemed the day before. Mr. Vanderbilt's absent relatives were summoned this morning and his daughter, Miss Gertrude Vanderbilt, and his second son, Alfred, arrived post haste from Newport. The bulletin issued yesterday were to the effect that Mr. Vanderbilt was comfortable but no worse, but the summoning home of the elder children, the long visits of the doctors and relatives and the hurried dispatching of messengers and telegraph boys at frequent intervals from the Vanderbilt residence during the late hours of the evening were circumstances not calculated to confirm the cautious assurances of the medical men that there had been no change.

For Bryan and the Platform.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 17.—Chairman Sterling R. Holt of the democratic state committee, whom the silver men at one time talked of ousting on account of his views, was asked if the repudiation of the democratic national platform by the executive committee of the New York democracy last night would affect the democrats of this state or lead to any action by the state committee. Mr. Holt said it would not; that the Indiana democracy would be true to the ticket and platform, no matter what might be done elsewhere.

Elect Officers Today.

Detroit, Mich., July 17.—Thursday's business session of the Hibernian international convention was devoted mainly to discussions of and amendments to the by-laws of the A. O. H. Elections of the A. Dean gave a 5 o'clock tea to a few of her many friends last Monday afternoon. About twenty-five were present, representing Janesville, Harmony and Bradford. The gathering was a very pleasant affair. Thomas Jones is expecting to thresh out his barley crop this week. Nearly all grain is cut and in the shock. The rain on Monday was needed badly for corn and seeding. On account of the death of Mrs. G. W. Hammond's father, W. H. Blackman, in Kenosha, there will be no service in the Emerald Grove Congregational church, Sunday.

BELOIT FEELS NEED OF A HOSPITAL

Ell Bellis, the Boy Prisoner Who Died Might Have Been Saved

Beloit, July 17.—A young man giving the name of Ell Bellis applied to the authorities for care a few days ago, stating that he felt very ill. He was given a berth in the damp lock-up and his illness developed into inflammation of the bowels. The city physician attended him, and although the poor little fellow, who was hundreds of miles from his home, suffered terribly, the doctor seemed to be unable to relieve his pain. Beloit prides itself on its aid and relief societies, but here was an opportunity for sympathy and assistance that no one heeded, and the unfortunate youth was compelled to lie in the damp jail until he was called to his Maker.

Despite the fact that the officers did all in their power for the boy, yet there are many who believe that if more pleasant surroundings, a comfortable bed, and closer medical attendance had been provided he would not now have been dead. Surely, Beloit needs a hospital.

BARON CRISP TO RACE NO MORE

John Kelly's Phenomenal Performer Disabled by an Accident at Grand Rapids

John Kelly's phenomenal trotter, Baron Crisp, will probably be unable to race any more this season, owing to an accident that befell him at Grand Rapids, where Mr. Kelly is now located with his string. While one of the men was leading the horse about yesterday, the animal stepped in a hole and turned his ankle over, cutting a deep gash and injuring a tendon. A veterinary surgeon was summoned from Chicago and said that the horse must be kept quiet for two weeks and then shipped home. All his engagements, therefore, will be abandoned. Baron Crisp was expected to be the sensation of the year, and would probably have given the world's record a rub before the season was over. He had won every race in which he started—one at New York, one at Chicago, and one at Grand Rapids—reduced his record to 2:12, trotted the fastest mile by any horse of his age this year, and netted his owner something like $2,000.

He was entered in the great Merchants and Manufacturers' stake to be contested at Detroit next week, the purse for which was $10,000. Horsemen say that Baron Crisp had this rich event at his mercy, and that he was a sure winner. After the Chicago races Mr. Kelly shipped his stable to Grand Rapids, where Baron Crisp won easily. He then decided to remain at Grand Rapids, and skip the Saginaw meeting, which is now in progress, in order that the Baron, and the other horses, should be in the pink of condition for the fight at Detroit. The accident knocks the season's plans in the head, as Baron Crisp was entered all through the grand circuit. As the horse's record was no indication of his speed, the accident will cause heavy financial loss to Mr. Kelly, and the animal's owner, Mr. Butler of New York. In a telegram to his Janesville relatives, Mr. Kelly said that the horse's campaigning was at an end according to all indications. The animal had been a failure in the hands of previous trainers, and the fact that Mr. Kelly had developed him into a phenomenon makes the accident more unfortunate.

NO BATH HOUSE IN THE RIVER

For the First Time in Twenty Years Janesville Is Unsupplied.

For the first time in twenty years Janesville is without a river bath house and those who have enjoyed such establishments in the past are bereft.

Floating ice made an end of the Fourth avenue bath house last winter and the Misses Carlson, who own it, decided not to rebuild.

Even when the bath house was new it was not a "gold mine." There was patronage enough but fully half the customers were anxious to see the soap float over the dam, and with each cake of soap away went the profit.

HOT WEATHER DYSPEPSIA.

Thousands Suffer From It at This Season of the Year.

Hot weather dyspepsia may be recognized by the following symptoms: Depression of spirits, heaviness and pain in the stomach after meals, loss of flesh and appetite, no desire for food, bad taste in the mouth, especially in the morning, wind in stomach and bowels, irritable disposition, nervous weakness, weariness, costiveness, headache, palpitation, heartburn. It is a mistake to treat such troubles with "tonics," "blood purifiers," "cathartics," "pills," because the whole trouble is in the stomach. It is indigestion or dyspepsia and nothing else.

All these symptoms rapidly disappear when the stomach is relieved, strengthened, and cleansed by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They should be taken after meals and a few carried in the pocket to be used whenever any pain or distress is felt in the stomach. They are prepared only for stomach troubles.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are endorsed by such physicians as Dr. Harlandson, Dr. J. H. Johnson, and Dr. Mayer, because they contain the natural digestive acids and fruit essences which when taken into the stomach cause the prompt digestion of the food before it has time to ferment and sour, which is the cause of the mischief.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are pleasant to take and unequalled for invalids, children and every person afflicted with imperfect digestion. It is safe to say they will cure any form of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach.

Nearly all the druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, full sized packages at 50 cents. A book on stomach troubles and the usands of testimonials sent free by addressing Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY.

1744—Elbridge Gerry, "signer" and statesman, born at Marblehead, Mass.; died 1814.

1745—Timothy Pickering, statesman, born in Salem, Mass.; died 1829.

1749—Peter Gansevoort, soldier, born in Albany; died 1812. Gansevoort joined the Revolutionary forces as major of the Second New York soon after Lexington.

His services were chiefly in central New York, where he contended against the Indians and British. One of his victories was the defense of Fort Stanwix, where he defeated St. Leger and prevented his cooperation with Burgoyne. The siege lasted 30 days. Afterward Gansevoort, at the time a colonel, led a picked body of men on the Sullivan expedition along the Mohawk and was rewarded by promotion to brigadier general.

1798—Charlotte Corday was guillotined for killing Marat.

1886—Lewis Cass, statesman, died at Detroit; born 1789.

1893—Thirty buildings in the business district of London burned; loss, £1,500,000.

THE SAME AS A CUT IN WAGES.

It takes little thought to show that workmen would not gain by a change to free silver.

The value of their wages, the purchasing power of their money, would be materially reduced. They would have to pay higher prices for all the necessities of life, and would be placed at a disadvantage in every respect.

The free silver orators tell them that their wages would be increased to correspond with the rise in prices, but this would turn out to be a bitter disappointment.

Experience has demonstrated that employers do not hasten to pay more to their employees when money is cheapened.

A prominent statistician points out that in 1865, the price of commodities stood at 217 compared with 100 in 1860, but wages only reached 143.

The course of events at that time," he says, "shows the truth of the statement that in times of inflation wages rise less quickly than prices, and the period of transition is one of hardship to the wage-receiving class."

It is manifestly to the interest of the working people, therefore, that the present gold standard, by which all kinds of money are kept at par, shall be maintained. They certainly cannot afford to vote for free silver when by so doing they must deliberately invite the lessening of their own wages. The republican party is pledged to avert such a misfortune by keeping all dollars up to the present 100 cent value. It does not propose any change, but only the continuance of a currency system under which the wage-earner receives money that is as good as the best that exists in the world.

WHITNEY SPEAKS OUT.

It doesn't take William C. Whitney long to tell what he thinks of the Chicago ticket. He sends to the Associated Press this request:

"Will you be kind enough to correct the statement that I desire the endorsement by state organization of the Chicago ticket. There are no possible conditions or circumstances that would induce me to vote for it or to assist it."

The voters will this year decide between a ticket and platform representing respect for law and order, a determination to maintain public credit and a sound currency, and promising a renewal of the prosperity which was general under republican rule, and a ticket and platform representing a desire to overturn constitutional authority, to destroy public credit and to debase our currency. Can there possibly be any doubt of the result?

It appears that of the fifty establishments in the United States that have adopted the profit-sharing system, only twelve have continued it. Five have abandoned it indefinitely and thirty-three permanently. Such a plan works very well so long as there are profits to share, but when there are losses to bear it becomes unsatisfactory.

Sewall was put on the democratic ticket solely because he is rich. It is said, however, that Mr. Sewall is regarded by his Maine neighbors as a very "near" man, and it is predicted that his contribution to the populist-democratic fund will not be large.

The peanut trust has dissolved, but peanut politics is still a specialty with certain democrats.

Sewall, the democratic nominee for vice president is a national bank stock owner, and the platform upon which he will run demands the abolition of national banks.

The populists may yet sour on their candidate, Bryan, if it becomes generally known among them that he gets shaved every day and always wears "billed" shirts.

Bryan couldn't carry his own state in 1894 when he was a candidate for United States senator and he cannot carry it in 1896 as a presidential candidate.

Mr. Cleveland is now in a position to sympathize with Senator Mills and others who have before been "between the devil and the deep sea."

The Chicago platform can be condensed into three words without destroying its meaning—Down with everything.

Bryan stampeded the convention with a speech, but he cannot stampede the voters with a thousand speeches.

The necessity for holding a second populist national convention was not visible to the naked eye.

HOLMES HUSTLERS ARE BEATEN

Milton Ball Players Prove Too Strong For the Janesville Boys.

The Holmes Hustlers base ball team drove to Milton yesterday afternoon, with the idea of "doing up" the Milton team to the tune of about 40 to 1. In this they were mistaken. They had a hot game and the Milton team won by a score of 7 to 4.

Those who played with the local team were Murphy, catch; M. Sullivan, pitcher; Cummins, short stop; Tim Sullivan, first base; Thomas Sullivan, second base; Smith, third base; Costello, r. f.; Dixon, c. f.; and Montague, l. f.

An interesting game of ball will be played tomorrow between the Evansville and the Edgerton teams.

Morrissey, T. Sullivan and Brewer of this city will play with the Evansville club.

GOLD RESERVE DWINDLING.

Doubt Whether It Can Be Kept Intact Until November.

Washington, July 17.—Assistant Secretary Curtis has gone to New York to inform the bankers who offered to purchase the 4 per cent bonds that none will be sold now.

Belmont, Morgan and other capitalists are very willing to buy bonds, but President Cleveland will not sell another bond during his term if he can avoid it.

The run on the gold reserve at present is by banks and individuals, who believe the yellow metal will go to a premium and who want it to hoard.

Thursday nearly half a million in gold was withdrawn for the purpose of hoarding.

The opinion that gold will go to a premium seems to be growing and the treasury officials admit that the chief danger of the depletion of the reserve lies in that direction.

At the rate of half a million per day for hoarding, together with withdrawals for export, the reserve cannot hold out at safe figures until November.

Eckels Favors a Third Ticket.

Washington, July 17.—Mr. Eckels, the controller of the currency, has returned to Washington from the Chicago convention. He is an earnest believer in the wisdom of putting a gold standard Democratic national ticket in the field as a means of accomplishing the defeat of the free silver candidates, and he believes that this will be done.

Populists Who Oppose Bryan.

Rensselaer, Ind., July 17.—The Populist convention to elect national delegates was held here Thursday. A motion endorsing Bryan and Sewall was voted down by a narrow margin, and the delegates were instructed to support the Omaha platform, and to keep "in the middle of the road."

ADAPTABILITY OF AMERICANS.

Our Girls Are Seldom Ill at Ease or Embarrassed.

"Of all people in the world," said a well-known Russian diplomat to a New York Tribune reporter, "Americans are the most adaptable, their mental and social flexibility being really remarkable. An English man or woman of the middle class retains the characteristics of his or her kind throughout every phase of fortune or change of surroundings, but Americans, particularly the women, acquire the look of breeding and elegance almost instinctively. I have seen many such instances in the course of my career as a diplomat. An American, whatever may be his lineage, is seldom if ever vulgar. At court presentations in England the men of the corps diplomatique form a body in the center of the throne room facing the royal personages who assist the queen or the princess of Wales to receive the ladies who are presented and opposite this phalanx of men on either side of the room are the women of the corps, thus forming a broad alleyway for the stately procession of debutantes and their chaperons who, one after one, sail up with spread trains to the head of the room where the royalties await them. The diplomatic body is composed of the most critical men in the world and the long array of court ladies opposite most certainly do not spare their sex, but comment upon each individual as she passes. It is a trying ordeal, this running the gauntlet of fashionable criticism and English girls are apt to lose their heads. Fortunately the good sense of the day has abolished the custom of backing out of the room, which used to be so difficult and so fraught with danger. I remember seeing one poor girl who was so frightened that she did not see where she was going and with the obeisances taught by her dancing master she backed straight into the square of diplomats, who politely gave way until the poor scared little thing happened to raise her eyes, which until then had been glued to the ground, and, seeing herself surrounded on every side by strange, smiling foreigners, she gave a little eldritch scream and, forgetting everything save her desperate instinct to escape, she fairly bolted. This, however, is a digression. What I was about to say was that this presentation, which to English and German girls is such an awful function, has no terrors for the American maiden, who, whether she comes from the best republican aristocracy or from regions unknown, has the same easy self-assurance which is begotten of absolute independence."

Gen. Putnam and Maj. Small.

An instance of personal regard overcoming the war spirit was told by Maj. Small to John Trumbull while the artist was painting in London, after the revolutionary war, his well-known picture of the battle of Bunker Hill.

Maj. Small is the British officer seen in the center of the painting, turning aside the bayonet of a grenadier who is about to pierce the dying Gen. Warren. When the British troops advanced on the redoubt for the second time Small, with other officers, was in the lead encouraging his men. They had advanced nearly to the breastwork, when a volley was poured in upon them which was terribly effective. The British troops fell back, and when Small looked around not an officer was left standing. He glanced at the Americans and, seeing several muskets leveled directly at him, gave himself up for lost. At this moment Gen. Putnam, an old comrade of Small's in the French and Indian wars, rushed forward and, striking up with his sword the muzzles of his men's pieces, cried out:

"Don't fire at that man, my lads. I love him as I do my brother."

They were so near each other that the major says he "heard the words distinctly." Bowing, he thanked Putnam and walked away unharmed.—H. A. Ogden in St. Nicholas.

The Last of the Falstaffs.

A correspondent writes: "Apropos of the latest Falstaff, I well remember a memorable performance of 'Henry IV.' on Dec. 18, 1852, at the Princess theater, when George Bartley—called then the last of the Falstaffs—made his farewell bow to the public after fifty years' service. 'On that very night of the week, the very date of the month fifty years ago,' he said, he had made his first appearance on the boards. I remember, too, his saying he had played Orlando to Mrs. Jordan's Rosalind. As a boy I was much struck with the transformation from the burly knight to the aristocratic-looking old gentleman in evening dress, as he tearfully bade his audience farewell. Charles Kean was the hotspur, Ryder the king, Lacy the prince, while Harley, Meadows, J. Vining, H. Saker, Miss Murray and Mrs. Daly were in the cast. Poor Bartley died within six years afterward and was laid in St. Mary's churchyard, Oxford, when I was an undergraduate in that university."—Westminster Gazette.

Her Age.

"Your age," said the interviewer, "is 27, is it not?"

"Yes," replied the actress. "How did you know?"

"I looked over the files of a newspaper in which you were interviewed twenty-five years ago. That's what I found it said there."—Standard.

Mean Trick of Burglars.

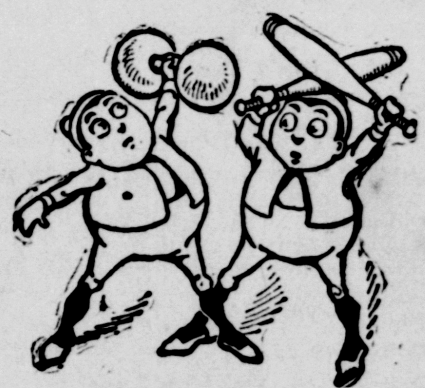

Burglars at Monmouth, Ill., not only stole a large sum of money and a watch from J. H. Pattee, but so effectively concealed his clothing that he could not pursue them. They escaped.

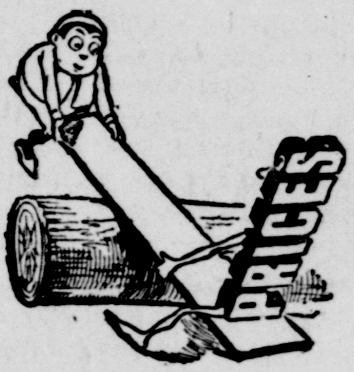

The camel is a beast of great strength and endurance. Nothing hurts it until the proverbial "last straw" is added to its burden. The human digestive system is very much like a camel. It is really astonishing how much abuse it will stand. Sometimes, however, something worse than usual will be eaten, and will go through the stomach into the bowels, and there it will stick—that's constipation. Nine-tenths of all human sickness is due to constipation. Some of the simplest symptoms are coated tongue and foul breath, dizziness, heartburn, flatulence, salivaceous distress after eating, headaches and lassitude. A little thing will cause constipation, and a little thing will relieve it. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a certain cure for constipation. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules, mild and natural in their action. There is nothing injurious about them. Sold by druggists.

Prohibition Stampede Feared.

Eau Claire, Wis., July 17.—Ole Olson of this city, editor of Reform and a member of the national prohibitionist committee, who is preparing to start on a speech-making tour in Minnesota, says that from advices he believed it would be hard to hold the prohibitionists in line; that the free-silver sentiment was making inroads, and that the party, while it lost votes to the populists two years ago, would lose to the democrats this year unless the silver sentiment was checked.

ARMY WORM IS HERE SWEEPING FIELDS

MANY EXCITED FARMERS IN TOWN TODAY.

Johnstown, Emerald Grove and Milton All Report the Appearance of Large Bodies of the Worms—Oat Fields Swept Bare—Some of the Remedies.

Army worms have invaded Rock county.

Several groups of excited farmers stood about the street this afternoon, telling of blighted grain fields.

One army of worms crossed the Emerald Grove road near the Grove yesterday afternoon and entered a field on George Locke's farm. Where twenty acres of fine oats stood they left nothing but stubble.

Another lot of worms moved through Johnstown.

Peter McFarland's farm, the old county property, suffered greatly.

The worms are described as from an inch to one and half inches in length, of greenish color with dark stripes on the back and sides. Their appearance in Rock County has been very sudden.

In both Johnstown and Emerald Grove and Milton the worms have appeared in vast numbers and after cleaning all of the vegetation where first observed they passed like an army to the new feeding grounds. In its perfect state the so called worm or larva transforms to a moth which flies in the night time.

Anxious to Know a Remedy

All farmers who discussed the visitation today were interested in but one thing—a remedy.

Unfortunately, there is little use of trying to fight the army worm in the fields where it first is seen, and the best plan for the farmer is to wait until it moves to new quarters and destroy it while on the way. To accomplish this a deep furrow should be plowed, making the wall of the furrow so straight that when the worms attempt to climb it they will fall back; as they accumulate in the ditch a log should be dragged along its bottom, which will crush the worms and thus destroy them.

Paris Green Kills Them.

The worms may also be destroyed by sprinkling Paris green on the herbage where they are feeding, but this endangers the lives of the live stock which may graze on such pastures. In grain fields where the worm crawls up the stalk, they are sometimes held in check by two persons taking a rope and stretching it across a part of the field. Pass forward dragging the rope over the heads of grain which will spring back as the rope passes over, and throw the worms to the ground. This process must be repeated as often as the worms climb up the stems.

The chief remedy to be used is that of checking their march by the use of the furrow and crushing by the log or pole drawn in the furrow as above recommended.

ACHESON IS NOW A BIKE SHARP

Knows More About Wheels Than Pope and All the Other Builders.

Two days ago Chief Acheson didn't know a sprocket from a cyclometer. Now he can tell the gear, construction and pedigree of a wheel half a block away. He talks fluently on solid vs. barrel hubs. He is an authority on twenty-eight different kinds of tires.

Bicycle thieves are responsible.

The chief has been getting postal cards from other cities all summer, directing him to "look out for a red, diamond frame, 72-gear, Dusenberry Special with ram's horn handle-bars and chuck-no-further hubs," or some such thing. His private opinion has been that bicycles are all very much alike; but a greater number of variations seemed to be listed on each new card, and at length his curiosity was aroused. He has spent the last two days in a bicycle repair shop and says he knows everything about a wheel that there is to know. He didn't even bat his eye when this card came in his mail today:

Chicago, July 16—Look out for one tandem, drop frame, green enamel, red rim wires; messenger saddles; enamel leaf out through head lugs; No. W. 348 B. double steerage; triangle tool bag, containing extra repair outfit; chain on both sides; detachable spider sprockets; name "Clover Leaf" printed on drop bar in front and lower bar in rear; number on seat post tube in front; value, $135. Stolen July 13, 1896, by one William Lyons, from Whipple & Becker. Lyons is twenty-eight years old, five feet ten inches tall, 160 to 170 pounds, sandy light mustache, tan shoes, dark clothes. Ten dollars reward will be paid for recovery of wheel. Arrest and hold Lyons, if found, and wire J. E. FITZPATRICK, Inspector, Detective Bureau.

BABBITT IS IN THE RACE.

He Will Be a Free Silver Candidate For Governor.

The candidacy of ex-Congressman Babbitt for governor on the democratic ticket is set forth in a long article in the Beloit News. He will pose as the logical free silver candidate, referring to his record as an exponent of the free silver doctrine when in the fifty-second congress. Mr. Babbitt is a personal friend of Candidate Bryan.

WILL DO SURGICAL WORK FREE

Dr. G. W. Fox Anxious to Advance Oak Lawn Hospital's Interests.

An offer from Dr. G. H. Fox to do all the surgical work required at Oak Lawn hospital, free of charge, is under consideration by the directors.

Dr. Fox writes:

To Directors of Oak Lawn Hospital—It seems to me that if you would take a proper course in advertising the Oak Lawn hospital, its location, natural surroundings, quiet, seclusion, etc., you could have, within twelve months, every ward full and more coming. Ovariotomy, appendicitis and lithotomy are among the capital operations that have been and can be done here with equally good results, to say the least, as elsewhere. I know, that according to the size of our city, it had during the ten years previous to Dr. Palmer's demise more surgical work than any in the state. Now, there is no reason why such work need to be discontinued. But as a physician I cannot advertise in a public manner, but I assure you I can get plenty of good & honorable vouchers of work done. We can do the work as well and with less cost to the patient than can be done in a larger city. For the sake of advertising the place I will do any of the work that you may bring between now and Oct. 1, 1896, without charge, so far as the work itself is concerned. This excludes eye and ear surgery only.

RODE WITH INSANE MOTHER.

Two Little Children of Horace Frazer Have a Terrifying Experience.

Mrs. Horace Frazer, violently insane, drove into Evansville yesterday afternoon, her two terrified children sitting in the bottom of the wagon.

She was so manifestly irresponsible, that Marshal Brink brought her to Janesville on the vestibule. At the jail all last night she howled, shrieked and shook the bars.

Drs. J. B. Whiting and James Mills were appointed a commission to report on her sanity. She is the wife of a well-known Magnolia farmer and her mental troubles are due to sickness, it is said.

Gambling Will Not Be Tolerated, the Police Tell the Proprietors

Word was passed around by the police this morning that gambling in cigar stores and back rooms of saloons must be stopped. ## $800 IN GOLD DROWNS A MAN.

At the burning of a steamboat on the Hudson river many years ago, many of the passengers were drowned. Among the bodies brought up from the bottom of the river by grappling was that of a man known to have been an excellent swimmer. Around his waist was a belt containing nearly $800 in gold. That told the story.

In old and chronic cases of indigestion (dyspepsia or gastritis—it is all the same) the sufferer develops a great variety of symptoms and often dies—poisoned by the products of his own torpid and inflamed stomach. His food, instead of being digested, and so furnishing strength and physical substance, ferments and putrefies within him. The chief process of life is arrested at a vital point. The more he eats the worse off he is. And yet unless he can be fed he must also perish. People do so die, daily, by thousands, but we doctors seldom have the moral courage to give the cause its true name lest we should be laughed at for our inability to cure so 'simple' a thing as indigestion. Simple? Why it is the capstone of all complaints—and the mother of most of them.—So writes a famous English physician.

Some of the symptoms alluded to are these: Loss of appetite; distress after eating; heartburn and palpitation; giddiness; foul taste in the mouth; the rising of nauseous acids and gases into the throat; furred tongue; spots before the eyes; unaccountable weariness and fatigue; sluggish circulation; weakness and nervous prostration; constipation or diarrhoea; discolored skin, etc.

The sufferer's friends often advise him to cheer up; to throw off his lethargy and eat freely. Bad advice. He knows better. "No," he answers, "I cannot; my food does me no good." He is right. Food now is gold in the spent swimmer's belt.

Take light nourishment, followed immediately by a dose of the Shaker Digestive Cordial—a new and radical remedy discovered and prepared by the Shakers of Mt. Lebanon, N. Y.—the essence of medicinal herbs and plants cultivated by them alone. Then continue with it. Relieves at once and soon cures. Pleasant to the palate and adapted to all constitutions.

Try bottles—which prove its merits—at ten cents. For sale by nearly all druggists.

OLD SCHOOL BANDIT.

"A story, girls?" said grandma smilingly. "Why, I've never had anything happen to me that could make a story—except once. And I'm almost afraid to tell you that one."

"Oh, that sounds charming," exclaimed Irene. "We'll have that if we have to coax for a week."

Grandma was silent for several minutes, while she chattered and coaxed her. At last she gave way and began:

"Years ago, when I was a girl, things were so different from our way of living now that I fear my story will seem improbable to you. I lived in a small western town, where my father had a tract of land almost as large as this entire village. It was a lonely place for young people, but frequent visits to school friends and return visits from them relieved the dreariness somewhat. We had plenty of riding and driving, however, as well as an occasional dance. We really had little time to mope."

"Still, it was a sad change when my sister married and went to live 110 miles away. It seemed as remote as if she had crossed the ocean; but the glorious anticipation of visiting her kept me in a fever of excitement for a whole year. During this time I had met Paul Foster (your grandfather) and become engaged to him, and it was arranged that he should accompany my father and myself on the journey."

"Stagecoaches were the only conveyances then, but there was an enchantment about travel then that no amount of luxury in a palace car could equal now."

"The drive was glorious! On some parts of the road I sat on top of the stage; but when I was tired, or the road rougher than usual, I crept inside. Sometimes we would walk while the horses rested or followed slowly. Toward evening we would reach some small tavern and remain all night—glad by that time of the change, but just as eager to start again the next morning."

"The second day, just as we were starting, a young man came up and hurriedly whispered to Silas, the driver. I remember still my lively curiosity as to what it was all about, when I saw Silas lean forward and draw out two large, fierce looking pistols. He examined them carefully, meanwhile holding the lines in a peculiar way, partly between his knees, with the ends turned about his arm."

"I found out the meaning of the whisper, and the pistols, too, when, early in the afternoon, we entered a narrow pass between the hills. By this time I was covering inside the coach, though I could see without wanting to the rugged mountains, the steep cliffs, the narrow roadway along which Silas peered carefully as we proceeded. Yet not so carefully but that even he was taken by surprise when half a dozen men suddenly sprang up, apparently from nowhere. I cannot express the rapidity with which the whole thing was done. Two stood at the horses' heads, two quickly disarmed the driver and the men on top of the coach, while two others at the same instant threw open the door and with leveled pistols ordered us to step out. Two elderly ladies, a middle aged one, an old gentleman and myself obeyed as quickly as we could I assure you. I trembled so that I could hardly stand, and was almost falling, when suddenly one of the highwaymen pushed the other out of the way, exclaiming, 'A Hebe, by Jove!' and with such a bow as few had ever given me he took my hand and helped me down."

"To tell the truth, I knew very little of what took place around me after that. I saw my highwayman give some orders to his men. Then he turned to me, and in the most gentlemanly manner begged me to walk with him as the air was rather cool. I dared not refuse, and we paced back and forth till I felt as if I should faint. He talked of the scenery, the mountain air and other matters, but of his purpose there and of the operations of his companions—he kept himself carefully between me and them—he said not a word."

"It was at a moment when I felt I could endure no more, that I caught sight of Paul's face. All the men had their hands tied behind them, and were standing in a row, looking into the revolvers of their captors, who relieved them of everything of value. There stood your grandfather with such a glare of helpless indignation at poor me that it was more than I could stand, and with a sense of the ridiculous that was more than half hysterical, I broke into such peals of laughter that the mountains echoed. I could not help it. I laughed and laughed till the tears ran down my cheeks, and my escort at last joined me, while he whispered something so flattering that my poor Paul would have died outright if he could have heard."

"Finally my highwayman placed me in the coach again, with a whispered request for some remembrance—a ring or anything. As he had it in his power to take rings and everything else, I slipped off a turquoise and gave it to him. He placed it on his third finger above a diamond, and as the diamond flashed, I saw a tiny cross cut into its surface. Nothing else was taken from me. I was not even searched, and with a courtly bow my knight of the road and his companions vanished as suddenly as they had come.

"One month later I was almost worn out with the entertainments furnished by my sister in her efforts to make my visit pleasant. There was to be one more dance, probably the last, as we were to start homeward the first of the following week. Paul had been visiting relatives and had just returned in time to take part."

"As the wagons drove up at the door of the inn where the dance was to be held I heard a young lady, a friend of my sister's, call out:

"Why, where has Mr. Meredith gone? But I thought nothing about it then."

"The dancing had been going on for only a short time when this young lady came up to me and, with tones suggestive of vexation or pique, said:

"Mr. Meredith wishes to be introduced to you."

"Mr. Meredith then asked me to dance with him, and not once but many times we danced together. He was an admirable dancer. Yet I could hardly hear what he said, so perplexed was I, wondering where I could have heard his voice before. But at length as he extended his hand I glanced down and saw a small cross cut on the diamond of his ring."

"My dears, I almost fainted outright. But to the end he acted the part of a gentleman. He led me to a window and stood talking while he shielded my agitation from the room now filled with whirling couples."

"Nothing was said for several minutes. In my foolish heart I was trying to think of some romantic reason that would account for his mode of life. His face, from which the beard and mustache were gone, looked like that of some boyish Sir Galahad, not like that of a criminal. His kindly brown eyes shone on me with a world of laughing in them."

"Well," he said smilingly. At the same moment I caught sight of Paul in the doorway talking to a man whom I did not know and with earnest gestures pointing to my partner. Paul, too, had recognized him."

"Though my heart was beating so hard that I could not speak, I motioned to Mr. Meredith to finish the dance, and when we reached the side nearest the opposite door I stopped."

"Bend down your head," I whispered faintly. "Some one has recognized you. I saw them. You must go." My voice trembled. I am sure.

"Must?" he said slowly, still smiling. Then he frowned. But the smile came back instantly as he glanced at me as I stood pale and trembling. "Poor little girl!" he said. "So divided between a sense of duty and pity for a poor wretch like me. Come—a bargain, child! One more dance all around the room and back here and I will go."

"You ought to go now," I faltered. "Not until we finish this dance," he said firmly.

"He supported me almost entirely as he whirled around the room, or I believe that I should have slipped to the floor."

"Now, go!" I whispered in perfect terror.

"Goodby!" he said earnestly. "I shall never forget you. Think of me as kindly as you can."

"He had vanished in the darkness, and none too soon. A few minutes later the sheriff and two of his men appeared, fully armed; but Mr. Meredith was nowhere to be found—nor did any one ever discover how he had escaped."

Grandmother sighed softly. "I have always been glad to know he escaped," she added.

"Is that all?"

"Yes, except that after the notice of my marriage had been inserted in the papers I received an express package containing a diamond ring with a cross cut in its surface."

"The girls were silent for a few moments, and then began with exclamations of delight at the story, romantic beyond anything they had expected. Then said saucy Irene, with a twinkle in her eyes:

"Grandmother, darling, I'll wager anything that you never told grandfather all this story."

The pink blush spread over grandmother's face, but the dear old soul would not lie even to point a moral.

"No, my dear girls," she said, slowly. "It was very wrong, no doubt, but—I never did."—Minnie C. Hale in Brooklyn Eagle.

One of Lang's Dog Stories.

Oscar, my Newfoundland dog, once brought home from Edenmouth a wild duck's nest full of eggs, which he hatched out. When he conceived that the nestlings were of an apt age, he carried them to the curling pond, where he superintended their education in swimming. When they grew up, he brought Mr. —, a local sportsman whom he often accompanied, to the spot, and his purpose obviously was to acclimatize wild ducks within easy distance and save the walk to the mouth of Eden. This appears to be good evidence of rudimentary reasoning powers in the dog. He was very fond of a cat named Peter, whom he would often take out for long swims on his back when the weather was fine. Unluckily a storm arose one day. Peter was swept overboard and drowned. Oscar brought the poor animal in, dead, buried him above high water mark, erected a biscuit box to his memory and often visited the sepulcher with offerings of bones.—Andrew Lang in Longman's Magazine.

A Joke in the Commons.

It is not often that the house of commons has the chance of enjoying a good and innocent joke. But it found the occasion the other night at the expense of Mr. John Burns, who is far too earnest a man to indulge in jokes of malice prepense. "Since I came into the house, four years ago," Mr. Burns said, "the confidence of the public in it has much diminished." The laughter that here broke forth prevented him from finishing the sentence.—Household Words.
